

BDB's Biweekly E-letter – January 4, 2008

Timely reminders, fabulous freebies, best sites & more "worth the surf"

Of Special Interest

---

Examining Education Around the World

The ED in '08 people have forged a partnership with Broken Pencil Productions to promote the documentary Two Million Minutes: A Global Examination, which tracks two high school students each from India, China and the United States. The film attempts to underscore the different direction the U.S. education system is going in relation to those in India and China (combined the two countries have more than 400 million students in K-12 education). The film's trailer provides a vivid, compelling and almost frightening account.

Click Here for More Information

Click Here to View Trailer